

Mary Beth Doyle Park

Countless options exist for taking a looped walk at this 81.4-acre park. Get a full 360-degree look at the pond from a loop that is half paved, half unpaved, where you're certain to hear and see all kinds of wildlife. The paved path connects the pond area to a handful of unpaved nature trails that wind through the woodland areas of the park—one trail will even take you along the northern border of Swift Run Marsh! This park is also a disc-golf course, and has basketball courts, picnic tables, benches throughout the park, and a large play area. There are more than eight trailhead entrances all around the perimeter of the park, with an easy-access parking lot at the end of Birch Hollow Drive, off of Stone School Road, and a smaller unpaved parking area on Packard Rd.

Total trail length: you have some options:

- Around the pond and wetland area: ½ mile
- Total miles available: 2.8 miles

Topography: flat

Trail type: Paved and unpaved nature paths

Visit the Mary Beth Doyle Park webpage for additional park information and parking details. Check out GIVE365 for Visit Every Park information or to track your walks and earn prizes. Visit Natural Area Preservation to learn more about Ann Arbor's natural areas.

Tag us #a2parkwalks on social media.

