Neighbors Inspiring Neighbors!

Whether it's a home energy audit, energy recovery ventilator, electric appliance, heat pump, solar panel, storage batteries, electric vehicles and chargers, or even insulating your home, making energy efficiency changes to your home can be a time-consuming and confusing process. Luckily, we have friendly neighbors who can share their experiences and lessons learned to help you get started!

We are excited to announce the newly launched pilot program: Green Energy Neighbors, developed and administered by a dedicated group of A<sup>2</sup>ZERO Ambassadors to help the City of Ann Arbor achieve its energy-related carbon neutrality goals.

The Green Energy Neighbors mentoring network is a no-cost service to connect individuals considering energy efficiency improvements (we call these folks "Learners") with people in the community who have already made some of these changes (we call these folks "Mentors").

Upon review of your intake form, the Green Energy Neighbors team will let you know then next opportunity for engagement.

As you complete projects, consider becoming a Mentor to share your stories and grow our impact as a community!

Our Mentors are not licensed professionals and their stories shared should not be taken as professional advice. Any information shared through the Green Energy Neighbors program is informal and based only on personal experiences. Always consult a licensed professional before undergoing a form of work on a building, home, or structure of any kind.

Our Vision:

Become the pre-eminent platform for Ann Arbor-area residents to exchange green energy and electrification experiences to inspire in-home climate action.
